CONFERENCE SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

SPONSOR PACKAGES, SUBJECT TO CHANGE: CURRENT AS OF 1.2023

Justice Outside is excited to hold our inaugural conference on April 27-28, 2023. This will be an opportunity for our community members to foster connections, facilitate growth, and expand our understanding of community in the outdoors. Cultivating Community Outdoors will center Black, Indigenous, and Communities of Color in recognition that through meaningful relationships with one another and the outdoors, we can build a world where we experience safety, health, and abundant joy.

WHY SPONSOR?

Our conference is an invitation to join Justice Outside as we cultivate seeds of racial justice in the outdoor and environmental movements. As we continue to reach milestones in our organization's history, this inaugural conference will be a practice in radical envisioning and mapping out our movement's next steps; your participation and perspective is warmly welcomed. As a community, we must work in partnership across the country to increase meaningful and safe participation of Black, Indigenous, People of Color in outdoor spaces. In this unique climate where our face-to-face interactions are still limited and our communities are continuing to adapt after the past three years of the uncertainty of the pandemic, it is more important than ever for our community to come together.

Sponsoring Cultivating Community Outdoors means reaching a national audience of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color leaders working to foster equity, access, and justice for historically marginalized communities. We reach nearly 40,000 people through our website, more than 10,000 people on social media, and thousands of people on our email lists. We expect nearly 200 people at our conference, more than 100 have already registered. Justice Outside's conference attendees are changemakers, environmental leaders, and continuous learners who are committed to advancing racial justice in the outdoor movement. We look forward to you joining us!
